

Few things taste as delectable as pies prepared with the finest, freshest ingredients. Organic food distributor Off the Vine has partnered with Fudpucker’s restaurant to create country-style pies flavored by natural sweetness of fruit and filled with no preservatives or artificial ingredients.

“They’re baked at Fudpuckers – all organic ingredients.” said Shana Wolf, who owns and operates Off the Vine in Father Fud’s Central Market.

The pies provide a side product for Off the Vine, but the business focuses on offering organic fruits and vegetables. Off the Vine has provided an online-based delivery service since 2002.

Father Fud’s allows Wolf a second pick-up point for her popular boxed fruits and vegetable to go with her original location at 28 Eglin Parkway S.E.

Along with taking preorders of the vegetables and fruits, Off the Vine carries organic raisins, rolled oats, whole wheat flour, baby foods, cookies, milk and breakfast bars, along with bio-based disposable items such as cutlery, cups and trash bag
